KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, March 16—Richard Ney was an upset boy when Jacqueline Dalya was injured at a Broadway premiere and he was splashed on all the front pages as her escort. Since his separation from Greer Garson he has made a point of taking out a different girl every night and the implication that he might be Jacqueline's "stand-in" worried him.

If you ask me I think the New York jaunt has just about served its purpose for Richard. Anyway, he's not staying on for a play, but is returning to Hollywood for one of the leads in "The Fugue of Harrow" with Rex Harrison at 20th. Fact is, he'll be back in 10 days.

Then, if after that movie, he still has the stage bug, he will return to New York.

Harold Russell, the handless boy in "The Best Years of our Lives," here for the academy awards, telephoned me as soon as he reached town.

He says he's out of school until June. "I just couldn't keep up with my studies," Harold said.

I asked him if it were because he was making so many appearances with the picture, but he said although he had made some appearances, the thing that had actually kept him busy was visiting the hospitals, attending Red Cross meetings, and working for the rehabilitation of boys similarly afflicted.

"I'm going back to school, though," he told me.

I think Harold should go back and finish his course, although I do realize how his fine courage helps other veterans.

Chatter in Hollywood: I have seen people in love in my day, but I have never seen two such love birds as June Haver and Jimmy Zito. They hold hands, gaze into each other's eyes, and are completely oblivious to the world.

June, Jimmie, and Mrs. Haver stopped in to see me, and we had a glass of champagne together, to toast the young pair. But June feels she isn't married and won't be until she has a church ceremony.

That will be after the banns are announced. Mrs. Haver should make a great mother-in-law. She is so crazy about June's choice.

At last, at last, at last "Forever Amber" is finished. Cornel Wilde and Linda Darnell are celebrating the end of the 133 days of shooting with a gala affair at the Little Gypsy Cafe on March 17.

Said Cornel, "Will you please put a word in your column and tell the crew who worked with us, if we don't reach them, they're all invited." So in case those of you who worked on "Forever Amber" aren't reached, here is your invitation.

"We're really happy," Cornel said, "not only Linda and I, but I guess Otto Preminger, who had us all those months, Darryl Zanuck, and just everybody, that it's all over now."

Just as I thought—if blonde curvaceous Jane Weeks got the right chance she would score. Jane had just a small role in "The Gangster" but the King Brothers like her so well that she's been handed the second femme role in "Gun Crazy"—their next.

She accepted the small part in Belita's picture just to demonstrate what she could do—which proves that she's smart as well as pretty. Too many actresses in our town take a poor role if it is a lead rather than a good small part.

"Gun Crazy" is by MacKinlay Kantor and gives Jane the break she has been hoping for.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Cary Grant and Peggy Cummins created plenty of attention at the "Blackouts." They went back stage and spent an hour chatting with Ken Murray.

The busy cyclist riding from the Selznick Studios to Paramount every day is Charlie Laughton. He is that weary, doing two pictures at once — "The Paradine Case" and "The Big Clock."

There is more than just publicity in the appearances Audrey Totter and Michael North are making together nightly. It's really a romance and not instigated by their praise agent, as I first suspected.

Laura Hobson, author of "Gentleman's Agreement" is here conferring with Darryl Zanuck and Moss Hart.

Ruth Bryan Owen, one-time Danish minister and daughter of the late Jennings Bryan, is building a house at Rancho Mirage, near Palm Springs. She'll make California her home.

Elsa Maxwell entertained about 15 people at dinner at the 20th Century-Fox Studios and showed "Boomerang." Irene Dunn, Dr. Grif-fen, Rosalind Russell, Freddie Bris-son, the Douglas Fairbanks, Mrs. Virginia Zuck, of course, Alexander Mazarly, the French consul, Ed-die Goulding gathered around the table in the commissary.

Elsa, who always brings gaiety with her, is visiting Eddie Goulding and trying to see all her friends before she goes to San Francisco on her annual visit.

The title of the Bob Montgomery-Joan Harrison movie is really "Ride a Pink Elephant." Good, isn't it?

Now that Robert Donat is free to negotiate, he's looking for a story before he lands here.

My goodness, David Holt is old enough to be taking girls out! He and Connie Haines were a Beverly Tropics twosome.

If you didn't hear Ed "Archie"

Gardner on the air, you may want to hear the way he introduced Reg-gie Gardiner. Said he, "Mr. Gard-ner is an Englishman—a sort of pleasant James Mason."

That's all today.

The weight of a newborn beef calf is a clue to the rate at which it is likely to grow, the U. S. De-partment of Agriculture has found.

Our Economic Influence Should Work Both Ways

President Truman has proposed that the United States pour $400,000,000 into Greece and Turkey to help those governments resist totalitarian aggression. His message outlining the dangers that confront those nations has been accepted as a frank and honest discourse. It has been received with mixed emotions, although it is taken for granted that while most debate over the issue will be sharply drawn, the Congress, in the end, likely will approve such an appropriation.

But if the United States it to throw its economic weight behind nations subscribing to our way of life when they are threatened by totalitarian aggression, it follows that our credit and assistance should be withheld from states and movements which seek to destroy democracy and free enterprise. President Truman might well follow up his brilliant speech of last Wednesday with such a declaration of economic policy.

We should deny loans to nations such as Yugoslavia and Bulgaria, which are stooging for Russia in the Soviets' current war of nerves. Such treatment might bring those countries to their senses before it is too late. In any event, when we go to the relief of Greece and Turkey we do not want our own money working against us. Nations which break solemn agreements with us, as have Russia and Poland, also should be dropped from the good-credit list. Our money should fight for peace, good faith and free enterprise.

Chairman John Taber of the House Appropriations committee has acted promptly in rejecting a State Department request for authority to send $25,000,000 worth of oil-refining equipment to Russia under an old Lend-Lease agreement. When Russia refuses to settle for Lend-Lease goods previously delivered, it is absurd to send her anything more under the same contract. That kind of appeasement could not be regarded by the Soviets as anything but evidence of weakness and timidity.

It is impossible, meanwhile, to reconcile the Greek-Turkish program urged by Mr. Truman with the present policy toward a similar situation in China. Are we to oppose Communism in some places and encourage it in others? That is the situation now. UNRRA has served notice on Chiang Kai-shek's government that its relief program will be curtailed, if not suspended, unless he delivers 20,000 tons of supplies to the Communists, with whom he is at war.

Because communications are so disrupted in China, Chiang probably could not do this if he wanted to. But why should he be asked to sacrifice his own energies in order to supply his enemies? If UNRRA feels it must support Chinese Communism, it should deliver its own goods to Yenan, if it can.

It will be recalled that some months ago UNRRA cracked down on the Greek government and insisted that it divide its relief supplies with the same guerrillas Mr. Truman denounced last week. Why repeat that mistake in China? Our government does not control UNRRA, but we put up most of the money and have a large voice in its policies. We should not permit discrimination against our friends.

Further, there is no record of UNRRA ever asking the Communist states if has supplied to send some of their relief goods to the underground movements in those areas. It seems there are guerrillas and guerrillas.

At the same time loans are urged for Greece and Turkey, the Export-Import Bank is holding up a credit of $500,000,000 earmarked for China because Chiang has failed to make a deal with the Communists. On the same score we are refusing to sell arms to the Chinese government.

Certainly, if the national integrity of Turkey is essential to the preservation of order in the Middle East, the same can be said with respect to China in the Far East. If Communism is a menace in Europe, it is a menace in Asia as well.

Wisdom Of Outlawing Reds In Nation May Be Debatable

As Secretary of Labor, and earlier as United States Senator, Lewis B. Schwellenbach has been something less than an adequate administrator and impartial executive and legislator, and his handling of the coal and railroad strikes left much to be desired. But in testifying before the House Labor Committee he made the wholesome revelation that he not only would have no dealings with the communists, but that he would go further than most public men in ridding the nation of the communist menace.

Discussing proposed labor law changes which would prohibit communists from holding office in labor unions and ousting those already in office, Schwellenbach declared the proposed reform "does not go far enough." He is in favor of denying recognition to the Communist Party as a political entity and thus keeping it from electing men and women to public office of any kind.

There are no communists in office in the United States today, elected as such, except in New York City, communist stronghold in the country, where there are two communist councilmen.

Whether it would be wise for Congress to take the extreme step may be debatable—it is perhaps safer to have the Communist Party out in the open than to drive it underground—but nobody can refute the statement that this group, by both action and announced purposes, has forfeited any right to tolerant consideration.

Its avowed purpose is to overthrow the government of the United States, by force of arms, if necessary, and its first and only real allegiance is to Russia. Why should it be permitted to promote dissension, strikes, and insurrections as a prelude to Stalin Day in the United States.

The fact that the Communist Party, as a party, never has attracted enough votes to enable it to elect a man to important office does not mean that it is without power and influence. It provides the rallying point for thousands of Americans who are not formally identified with it but who are no less enemies of the American way of life.

They may not be known as communists because, as Secretary Schwellenbach says, the "first thing they learn to do is to deny they are communists," but their aims and ideals are so foreign to the traditional aims and ideals of America that their activities are a definite menace.

IRELAND'S FAMINE OF 1846

It was a great day for Ireland when the Corrigans' second son, Dominic John, came into the world. This lad, born in Dublin in 1802, was destined to become one of the outstanding physicians of his era and his name will live forever among medical men.

As a young man he distinguished himself in his studies, having a flair for the medical sciences. At the age of 23 he was graduated from the medical school of the University of Edinburgh which at that time was an institution second to none. A few years later he wrote an essay on his observations of certain valves of the heart in which leakage occurs. Had he done so more, this paper would have immortalized him. But 50 additional years of life were granted to him and, by winning wide acclaim so early, it is little wonder that his fame spread, not only in his native land but throughout the world. He became one of the most popular practitioners in Dublin and naturally his advice was sought during the famine that struck Ireland at the height of his career.

Corrigan wrote a pamphlet on famine and fever and actually foretold the epidemic that swept his native land in 1846-47. Ireland at that time relied heavily on potatoes for its livelihood and whenever the crop failed, the entire national economy was disrupted. During the preceding centuries many such calamities had occurred and as a result a large proportion of the people lived in a perpetual state of misery and poverty. But his visitation was the straw that broke the camel's back. In the second week of August, 1846, "The plant seemed struck by some malign influence; in a few hours its gay summer blossoms and rich leaves shriveled up and withered, and far and near, in all parts of the island, the vast green spaces which marked the presence of the corn became desolate breadths of noisome decay, standing out ominously in the bright harvest landscape."

Five-sixths of the potato crop perished and so did the oats, which was next in importance to the farmers. Just like that, 66 per cent of the population was left without food. The number of deaths was 729,033. The only hope was to import sustenance and help from other nations. The rest of the story is history and many Americans of Irish ancestry can trace their family's migration to this catastrophe. It is said that over a million left that unhappy country because of conditions existing at that time.

Disaster of this type are usually associated with pestilence, and Corrigan taught his students to distinguish typhoid from typhus. He was also an active member of the Irish board of health which had charge of the starvation cases. Because of some of his decisions he became unpopular for a short period. Eventually, however, one honor after another was bestowed upon him, including a baronetcy mainly as a reward for his services during the famine. Later he served in parliament for several years but in 1874 was defeated for reelection because he favored the temperance cause which wanted to ban the sale of liquor on Sunday.

Out of the tragic blight of '46 came good. Reform movements were started and in less than a century, the agriculture of Ireland was placed on an entirely different basis.

Sometimes the victim passes through these stages without any manifestations at all. ## It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

By BOB HOPE

Right now there's a battle raging in Congress. They don't know whether to cut the national budget by six billion or four and one-half billion. This bothers me.

A few million I don't mind.

But there's a billion and a half dollars difference between those two figures and I'd like to know what's cooking. For that kind of moo it could be caviar.

I sit up until four in the morning on March 15, trying to save a buck here and a buck there, then Congress comes along and tosses a billion and a half pieces of cabbage around as if it were fertilizer.

I guess I just have a petty mind. I haven't reached the point where I can look at a twenty dollar bill without taking it home and putting it in my scrapbook.

But those congressmen with their billions. I suppose whenever they feel moody they just take a stroll through the mint and figure the merchandise.

I admit all these high statistics are over my head, and it's because of my complex. Every time someone mentions a big figure to me I become self-conscious and pull the laces a little tighter.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Opinion is unanimous on Capitol Hill that President Truman's message on Greece and Turkey represents the most momentous foreign policy step taken by the United States since President Roosevelt decided to convoy supplies across the Atlantic in 1940 to aid beleaguered Britain.

The two moves are regarded as analogous. One cast the die in regard to Germany. The other may cast the die in regard to Russia. In fact, the message is so vital that some of the President's best friends on Capitol Hill wish he would not becloud the issue by the friendships he keeps.

Specifically they are worried over the fact that spokesmen for the extreme Greek Royalists, against whom a large part of the Greek population is bitterly opposed, appear to have ready access to the White House.

Shortly before President Truman delivered his historic message, for instance, he conferred with Archbishop Athenagoras of the Greek Orthodox Church and Reverend Thomas Daniels, sometimes known as Papathomas Daniels, or Daniel Papathomas. Greek-Americans who know this pair were amazed that they could even get inside the White House, let alone hold a long conference with the President, and later be wine and dined with Truman's military aide, General Harry Vaughan.

Not only does the Archbishop represent the extreme Royalist faction in Greece but the Reverend Daniels is one of the most controversial figures in the Greek Church.

Controversial Priest

The records of the District of Columbia Court show that on Feb. 14, 1938 suit was filed by local Greek-Americans to remove him as pastor of the Saints Constantine and Helen Greek Orthodox Church because of unbecoming behavior. The police records of the District of Columbia show that on July 22, 1939, he was arrested on a charge of drunkenness (case 930503) and forfeited collateral.

The records of the Superior Court of New Haven, Ct. (7-26-17) show that he was cited by Judge Donald Werner as having "committed adultery" in the divorce case of Helen vs. Hays. The Court of Common Pleas in Philadelphia (9-13-16) also shows him cited for adultery in the divorce case of Coroneos vs. Coroneos. The Atlantic City police court (8-25-22) also shows the priest arrested on a charge of grand larceny in connection with the theft of $650 worth of jewels from a hotel room. He was discharged for lack of evidence.

In such bad repute is Rev. Daniels with the Greek-American community, that the St. Sophia Church of Washington has adopted a standing bylaw that he may not enter the church even as a worshipper.

No wonder many Greeks were shocked and amazed that this man should be received by the President of the United States, be entertained in the White House, and appear in the company of his military aide, and appear to be advising the President on Greek policy.

Congressmen who have been looking into the Greek Church industry at the White House at first were inclined to think that the contacts of the Royalist Archbishop and Rev. Daniels were purely social. However, inquiry at the State Department has developed that in one case they succeeded—through their friend, General Vaughn—in overruling an Assistant Secretary of State who had authorized a passport to an American citizen of Greek origin. Daniels protested—through General Vaughn—that the passport applicant was unsympathetic to the cause of Greece. And they got their way. The passport was withheld.

If Greek Church Royalists are able to reach into the State Department in regard to passports, some Congressmen are wondering what influence they may have on the most vital foreign policy step this country is taking in many years. While agreeing with President Truman's broad objectives, they are worried about some of the Greek palace guard who appear close to the White House throne.

Justice Frankfurter Heckled
Lawyers practicing before the Supreme Court long have wished they could turn the tables on talkative, inquisitive Justice Felix Frankfurter.

During almost every case argued before the Court, Justice Frankfurter subjects the attorneys to a barrage of questions. Sometimes the grilling is so continuous that a lawyer finds all his time taken up with the Frankfurter repartee, has little time left to present his main argument. Privately they wish they could ask the Justice a few questions themselves.

It remained for a young Harvard law professor to turn the tables and heckle Justice Frankfurter while he was making a speech.

(Copyright, 1947, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

It was the night of the big snow a couple of weeks ago. As the sports editor and I came out of Madison Square Garden, we turned south to get the wind on our backs. An old man in a torn sweater grabbed at my sleeve.

"Don't let it go," he said. "I can't eat to-day."

It wasn't hard to believe. He gave off the bar-rag aroma of a man on a liquid diet. I gave him some loose change. "Go easy on the pretzels," I told him.

As he shuffled away, the light of a neon sign fell on the whiskers and dirt that hid his features.

"I know that guy from somewhere," mused the sports writer.

We passed Lefty's bar-and-grill. "How about a beer?" said my friend. We went in. Lefty's is one of those saloons with a picture of John L. Sullivan over the soaped mirror. The sports writer's foot went up on the brass rail and his fist dug into the peanut bowl.

"Pete Carpenter," he suddenly reminded himself. "That's who the old guy was. This used to be his hangout."

"What happened to him?" I asked.

He told me. It's the story of a mean bartender and a little man who used to tell lies. Or, rather, one lie.

Pete Carpenter lived with his sister over on Tenth Avenue. Every evening, she'd straighten his tie and put a dollar behind the fresh handkerchief in his breast pocket. Every evening, Pete would stroll over to Lefty's, where the talk was mostly horse racing and fights. The dollar bought him ten beers, and the ten beers would last until the gunk thinned out.

Pete was the bar's baseball expert—and that was his lie. For years he had been telling the boys he once played a season in major league ball. This gave him a certain standing among the two-bit bookies and the fighters who had taken one left to the head too many.

About every other night, Pete Carpenter would get a chance to tell his story. "Used to play for the Giants myself," he'd begin. "Utility outfielder and pinch hitter. In 1911, we were playing Philadelphia in the World Series. In the third game, with two out and the score tied in the ninth, the pitcher was next at bat. McGraw looks down the bench and gives me the nod. 'Pete,' he says, 'go out there and lean on one.' That's his exact words. 'Lean on one.'"

"I let the first two go by. Not my style. Bill Klem called them strikes. Connie Mack's pitcher figured he'd sneak the next one past me. I swung free and easy and hit it long and low, smack between left and center. It rolled right out to the flagpole. Home run inside the park! We win, four to three. Old Jawn McGraw put his arm around me and said, 'Pete, you can pinch hit for me anytime.'"

The regulars at Lefty's knew the story by heart, but they'd always pat Pete on the back and tell him he was quite a fellow. Except Lefty. When Pete got to the part about McGraw hugging him, the proprietor would sometimes throw the bar rag on the floor, he was that mad. Sometimes he would slam the glasses around when Pete was talking. Maybe he figured there wasn't enough profit in a dollar's worth of beer. Maybe he was just plain mean.

Around one o'clock, Pete would set his straw skimmer at a sporting angle and walk himself home, a smile on his face and the beer singing quietly inside him. Not much of a fellow, not much of a life. But it had a certain dignity, and it didn't hurt anybody.

This went on for years.

Then one night, after Pete finished telling his fib, Lefty threw a book on the counter. "This is a baseball record book," he shouted, loud enough for everyone at the bar to hear. "Lists the box scores of all World Series games. If you can show me the name Pete Carpenter anywhere in it, I'll give you the joint!"

The bar got quiet as a ball park at midnight. Pete looked as if somebody had kneed him in the belly. He opened his mouth as if to say something, then found he had nothing to say. Mechanically, he put on the hat and walked to the door. One of Lefty's friends snickered. "Don't forget to touch all the bases," he flipped as the little man closed the door of Lefty's bar behind him.

"What happened to Carpenter after that?" I asked the sports writer.

"Took the elevator down," said my friend, reaching for the peanut bowl again.

Lefty came over. "Another beer, gentlemen?" he beamed.

"Let's get out of here," I said to the sports writer.

Statistician Would Put Heavy Tax On Luxuries To Aid Greece

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Fla., March 16.—Much as we may dislike sticking our noses into other people's affairs, it becomes a necessity, under present conditions. We are sending relief in one form or another all over the world. We supplied 72 per cent of the UNRRA funds and goods. In many instances we found administrative personnel of other nations using these relief supplies to their political advantage.

With the end of NRRA this month a new plan is proposed whereby the U. S. supplies only 57 per cent (still well over half) of the funds. For this purpose, President Truman has asked for an additional $350,000,000 with which to stave off the specter of starvation in Austria, Greece, Hungary, Poland, Italy and China. However, our State Department says that in this undertaking, we ourselves, will administer our own funds.

Can We Afford It?

The world calls upon our resources, to the estimated sum of about $4,000,000,000, at a time when we need to put our own financial affairs in order. We have loaned to France, Poland, England and others. England once sent money and goods all over an Empire, and it has nearly busted her. England now owes many billions of dollars to Canada, the U. S. and other nations besides the billions which she owes her own people. Now, near economic collapse, she still has to interest all over the world. Who will do the policing and protecting of her loans and investments? Will the United States step in everywhere Britain feels she must step out?

Italy and Greece might have turned to England for assistance. But, under the circumstances, they are asking of the U. S. Italy's government warns us of the communistic danger in the offing if the U. S. does not provide the Italians with more aid in food and money. Certainly, we are between two fires: If we don't loan, Europe will go communistic; while if we loan too much, unemployment will develop in the U. S. and strengthen Communism here at home.

Self-Reliance—An Ideal
It would be unhealthy for any nation to acquire the feeling that it can always turn to us for material aid. A nation strengthens itself as it works out its own difficulties. The ravages of war have made it necessary for the United States to send food to many nations. Germany, Austria, India and China are among the most hungry today, having more than 20 per cent cut in their normal diet. They are worse off than France, Italy or even Greece.

Among the defeated nations it is important to defeat domestic self-sufficiency lest they become a permanent drain on the resources of others. MacArthur is wisely asking Washington to allow the Japanese funds for enough shipbuilding to permit a revival of their fishing industry. He also believes that limitations on Japanese industry should be lifted, to help Japan work toward domestic self-sufficiency at least.

How To Raise Needed Funds
The real question is not whether we send these hundreds of millions abroad as ex-President Hoover recommends. We simply must do so or some day the entire world will gang up against us. We, in the U. S., cannot long continue living the "life of Riley" while the rest of the world is on the verge of starvation. The only question facing us today is how this money should be raised.

The answer to me is very simple:—Increase the luxury taxes on liquor, tobacco, night clubs, expensive clothing, jewelry, etc. This will both give the necessary funds and put some sense into our people. Some will say such increased taxes would throw a few of our people temporarily out of work. Perhaps so; but I doubt it. Besides we are short of labor to make for us today the essentials which we are lacking—in needed food, clothing and shelter.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

It was the night of the big snow a couple of weeks ago. As the sports editor and I came out of Madison Square Garden, we turned south to get the wind on our backs. An old man in a torn sweater grabbed at my sleeve.

"Don't let it go," he said. "I can't eat to-day."

It wasn't hard to believe. He gave off the bar-rag aroma of a man on a liquid diet. I gave him some loose change. "Go easy on the pretzels," I told him.

As he shuffled away, the light of a neon sign fell on the whiskers and dirt that hid his features.

"I know that guy from somewhere," mused the sports writer.

We passed Lefty's bar-and-grill. "How about a beer?" said my friend. We went in. Lefty's is one of those saloons with a picture of John L. Sullivan over the soaped mirror. The sports writer's foot went up on the brass rail and his fist dug into the peanut bowl.

"Pete Carpenter," he suddenly reminded himself. "That's who the old guy was. This used to be his hangout."

"What happened to him?" I asked.

He told me. It's the story of a mean bartender and a little man who used to tell lies. Or, rather, one lie.

Pete Carpenter lived with his sister over on Tenth Avenue. Every evening, she'd straighten his tie and put a dollar behind the fresh handkerchief in his breast pocket. Every evening, Pete would stroll over to Lefty's, where the talk was mostly horse racing and fights. The dollar bought him ten beers, and the ten beers would last until the gunk thinned out.

Pete was the bar's baseball expert—and that was his lie. For years he had been telling the boys he once played a season in major league ball. This gave him a certain standing among the two-bit bookies and the fighters who had taken one left to the head too many.

About every other night, Pete Carpenter would get a chance to tell his story. "Used to play for the Giants myself," he'd begin. "Utility outfielder and pinch hitter. In 1911, we were playing Philadelphia in the World Series. In the third game, with two out and the score tied in the ninth, the pitcher was next at bat. McGraw looks down the bench and gives me the nod. 'Pete,' he says, 'go out there and lean on one.' That's his exact words. 'Lean on one.'"

"I let the first two go by. Not my style. Bill Klem called them strikes. Connie Mack's pitcher figured he'd sneak the next one past me. I swung free and easy and hit it long and low, smack between left and center. It rolled right out to the flagpole. Home run inside the park! We win, four to three. Old Jawn McGraw put his arm around me and said, 'Pete, you can pinch hit for me anytime.'"

The regulars at Lefty's knew the story by heart, but they'd always pat Pete on the back and tell him he was quite a fellow. Except Lefty. When Pete got to the part about McGraw hugging him, the proprietor would sometimes throw the bar rag on the floor, he was that mad. Sometimes he would slam the glasses around when Pete was talking. Maybe he figured there wasn't enough profit in a dollar's worth of beer. Maybe he was just plain mean.

Around one o'clock, Pete would set his straw skimmer at a sporting angle and walk himself home, a smile on his face and the beer singing quietly inside him. Not much of a fellow, not much of a life. But it had a certain dignity, and it didn't hurt anybody.

This went on for years.

Then one night, after Pete finished telling his fib, Lefty threw a book on the counter. "This is a baseball record book," he shouted, loud enough for everyone at the bar to hear. "Lists the box scores of all World Series games. If you can show me the name Pete Carpenter anywhere in it, I'll give you the joint!"

The bar got quiet as a ball park at midnight. Pete looked as if somebody had kneed him in the belly. He opened his mouth as if to say something, then found he had nothing to say. Mechanically, he put on the hat and walked to the door. One of Lefty's friends snickered. "Don't forget to touch all the bases," he flipped as the little man closed the door of Lefty's bar behind him.

"What happened to Carpenter after that?" I asked the sports writer.

"Took the elevator down," said my friend, reaching for the peanut bowl again.

Lefty came over. "Another beer, gentlemen?" he beamed.

"Let's get out of here," I said to the sports writer.

Our Economic Influence Should Work Both Ways

President Truman has proposed that the United States pour $400,000,000 into Greece and Turkey to help those governments resist totalitarian aggression. His message outlining the dangers that confront those nations has been accepted as a frank and honest discourse. It has been received with mixed emotions, although it is taken for granted that while most debate over the issue will be sharply drawn, the Congress, in the end, likely will approve such an appropriation.

But if the United States is to throw its economic weight behind nations subscribing to our way of life when they are threatened by totalitarian aggression, it follows that our credit and assistance should be withheld from states and movements which seek to destroy democracy and free enterprise. President Truman might well follow up his brilliant speech of last Wednesday with such a declaration of economic policy.

We should deny loans to nations such as Yugoslavia and Bulgaria, which are stooging for Russia in the Soviets' current war of nerves. Such treatment might bring those countries to their senses before it is too late. In any event, when we go to the relief of Greece and Turkey we do not want our own money working against us. Nations which break solemn agreements with us, as have Russia and Poland, also should be dropped from the good-credit list. Our money should fight for peace, good faith and free enterprise.

Chairman John Taber of the House Appropriations committee has acted promptly in rejecting a State Department request for authority to send $25,000,000 worth of oil-refining equipment to Russia under an old Lend-Lease agreement. When Russia refuses to settle for Lend-Lease goods previously delivered, it is absurd to send her anything more under the same contract. That kind of appeasement could not be regarded by the Soviets as anything but evidence of weakness and timidity.

It is impossible, meanwhile, to reconcile the Greek-Turkish program urged by Mr. Truman with the present policy toward a similar situation in China. Are we to oppose Communism in some places and encourage it in others? That is the situation now. UNRRA has served notice on Chiang Kai-shek's government that its relief program will be curtailed, if not suspended, unless he delivers 20,000 tons of supplies to the Communists, with whom he is at war.

Because communications are so disrupted in China, Chiang probably could not do this if he wanted to. But why should he be asked to sacrifice his own energies in order to supply his enemies? If UNRRA feels it must support Chinese Communism, it should deliver its own goods to Yenan, if it can.

It will be recalled that some months ago UNRRA cracked down on the Greek government and insisted that it divide its relief supplies with the same guerrillas Mr. Truman denounced last week. Why repeat that mistake in China? Our government does not control UNRRA, but we put up most of the money and have a large voice in its policies. We should not permit discrimination against our friends.

Further, there is no record of UNRRA ever asking the Communist states it has supplied to send some of their relief goods to the underground movements in those areas. It seems there are guerrillas and guerrillas.

At the same time loans are urged for Greece and Turkey, the Export-Import Bank is holding up a credit of $500,000,000 earmarked for China because Chiang has failed to make a deal with the Communists. On the same score we are refusing to sell arms to the Chinese government.

Certainly, if the national integrity of Turkey is essential to the preservation of order in the Middle East, the same can be said with respect to China in the Far East. If Communism is a menace in Europe, it is a menace in Asia as well.

Wisdom Of Outlawing Reds In Nation May Be Debatable

As Secretary of Labor, and earlier as United States Senator, Lewis B. Schwellenbach has been something less than an adequate administrator and impartial executive and legislator, and his handling of the coal and railroad strikes left much to be desired. But in testifying before the House Labor Committee he made the wholesome revelation that he not only would have no dealings with the communists, but that he would go further than most public men in ridding the nation of the communist menace.

Discussing proposed labor law changes which would prohibit communists from holding office in labor unions and ousting those already in office, Schwellenbach declared the proposed reform "does not go far enough." He is in favor of denying recognition to the Communist Party as a political entity and thus keeping it from electing men and women to public office of any kind.

There are no communists in office in the United States today, elected as such, except in New York City, communist stronghold in the country, where there are two communist councilmen.

Whether it would be wise for Congress to take the extreme step may be debatable—it is perhaps safer to have the Communist Party out in the open than to drive it underground—but nobody can refute the statement that this group, by both action and announced purposes, has forfeited any right to tolerant consideration.

Its avowed purpose is to overthrow the government of the United States, by force of arms, if necessary, and its first and only real allegiance is to Russia. Why should it be permitted to promote dissension, strikes, and insurrections as a prelude to Stalin Day in the United States.

The fact that the Communist Party, as a party, never has attracted enough votes to enable it to elect a man to important office does not mean that it is without power and influence. It provides the rallying point for thousands of Americans who are not formally identified with it but who are no less enemies of the American way of life.

They may not be known as communists because, as Secretary Schwellenbach says, the "first thing they learn to do is to deny they are communists," but their aims and ideals are so foreign to the traditional aims and ideals of America that their activities are a definite menace.

IRELAND'S FAMINE OF 1846
It was a great day for Ireland when the Corrigans' second son, Dominic John, came into the world. This lad, born in Dublin in 1802, was destined to become one of the outstanding physicians of his era and his name will live forever among medical men.

As a young man he distinguished himself in his studies, having a flair for the medical sciences. At the age of 23 he was graduated from the medical school of the university of Edinburgh which at that time was an institution second to none. A few years later he wrote an essay on his observations of certain valves of the heart in which leakage occurs. Had he done no more, this paper would have immortalized him. But 50 additional years of life were granted to him and, by winning wide acclaim so early, it is little wonder that his fame spread, not only in his native land but throughout the world. He became one of the most popular practitioners in Dublin and naturally his advice was sought during the famine that struck Ireland at the height of his career.

Corrigan wrote a pamphlet on famine and fever and actually foretold the epidemic that swept his native land in 1846-47. Ireland at that time relied heavily on potatoes for a livelihood and whenever the crop failed, the entire national economy was disrupted. During the preceding centuries many such calamities had occurred and as a result a large proportion of the people lived in a perpetual state of misery and poverty. But his visitation was not a straw that broke the camel's back. In the second week of August, 1846, "The plant seemed struck by some malign influence; in a few hours its gay summer blossoms and rich leaves shriveled up and withered, and far and near, in all parts of the island, the vast green spaces which marked its presence became desolate breadths of noxious decay, standing out ominously in the bright harvest landscape."

Five-sixths of the potato crop perished and so did the oats, which was next in importance to the farmers. Just like that, 56 per cent of the population was left without food. The number of deaths was 729,033. The only hope was to import sustenance and help from other nations. The rest of the story is history and many Americans of Irish ancestry can trace their family's migration to this catastrophe. It is said that over a million left that unhappy country because of conditions existing at that time.

Disaster of this type are usually associated with pestilence, and Corrigan taught his students to distinguish typhoid from typhus. He was also an active member of the Irish board of health which had charge of the starvation cases. Because of some of his decisions he became unpopular for a short period. Eventually, however, one honor after another was bestowed upon him, including a baronetcy mainly as a reward for his services during the famine. Later he served in parliament for several years but in 1874 was defeated for reelection because he favored the temperance cause which wanted to ban the sale of liquor on Sunday.

Out of the tragic blight of '46 came good. Reform movements were started and in less than a century, the agriculture of Ireland was placed on an entirely different basis.

It Says Here
By BOB HOPE
Right now there's a battle raging in Congress. They don't know whether to cut the national budget by six billion or four and one-half billion. This bothers me.

A few million I don't mind. But there's a billion and a half dollars difference between those two figures and I'd like to know what's cooking. For that kind of moo it could be caviar.

I sit up until four in the morning on March 15, trying to save a buck here and a buck there, then Congress comes along and tosses a billion and a half pieces of cabbage around as if it were fertilizer.

I guess I just have a petty mind. I haven't reached the point where I can look at a twenty dollar bill without taking it home and putting it in my scrapbook.

But those congressmen with their billions, I suppose whenever they feel moody they just take a stroll through the mint and figure the merchandise.

I admit all these high statistics are over my head, and it's because of my complex. Every time someone mentions a big figure to me I become self-conscious and pull the lace a little tighter.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, March 16. — Opinion is unanimous on Capitol Hill that President Truman's message on Greece and Turkey represents the most momentous foreign policy step taken by the United States since President Roosevelt decided to convoy supplies across the Atlantic in 1940 to aid beleaguered Britain.

The two moves are regarded as analogous. One cast the die in regard to Germany. The other may cast the die in regard to Russia. In fact, the message is so vital that some of the President's best friends on Capitol Hill wish he would not becloud the issue by the friendships he keeps.

Specifically they are worried over the fact that spokesmen for the extreme Greek Royalist faction against whom a large part of the Greek population is so bitter, appear to have ready access to the White House.

Shortly before President Truman delivered his historic message, for instance, he conferred with Archbishop Athenagoras of the Greek Orthodox Church and Reverend Pappathomas Daniels, sometimes known as Pappathomas Daniels, who know this pair were amazed that they could even get inside the White House, let alone hold a long conference with the President, and later have access to the President's military aide, General Harry Vaughan.

Not only does the Archbishop represent the extreme Royalist faction in Greece but the Reverend Daniels is one of the most controversial figures in the Greek Church.

Controversial Priest
The records of the District of Columbia court show that on Feb. 14, 1938, suit was filed by local Greek-Americans to remove him as pastor of the Saints Constantine and Helen Greek Orthodox Church because of unbecoming behavior. The police records of the District of Columbia show that on July 22, 1930, he was arrested on a charge of drunkenness (case 930503) and forfeited collateral.

The records of the Superior Court of New Haven, Ct., (7-26-17) show that he was cited by Judge Donald Werner as having "committed adultery" in the divorce case of Heris vs. Heris. The Court of Common Pleas in Philadelphia (9-13-16) also shows him cited for adultery in the divorce case of Coroneos vs. Coroneos. The Atlantic City police court (2-25-22) also shows the priest arrested on a charge of grand larceny in connection with the theft of $650 worth of jewels from a hotel room. He was discharged for lack of evidence.

In such bad repute is Rev. Daniels with the Greek-American community, that the St. Sophia Church of Washington has adopted a standing bylaw that he may not enter the church even as a worshipper.

No wonder many Greeks were shocked and amazed that this man should be received by the President of the United States, be entertained in the company of his military aide, and appear to be advising the President on Greek policy.

Congressmen who have been looking into the Greek Church influence at the White House at first were inclined to think that the contacts of the Royalist Archbishop and Rev. Daniels were purely social. However, inquiry at the State Department has developed that in one case they succeeded—through their friend, General Vaughan—in obtaining an Assistant Secretary of State who had authorized a passport to an American citizen of Greek origin. Daniels protested—through General Vaughan—that the passport applicant was unsympathetic to the King of Greece. And they got the way. The passport was withheld.

If Greek Church Royalists are able to reach into the State Department in regard to passports, some Congressmen are wondering what influence they may have on the most vital foreign policy step this country is taking in many years. While agreeing with President Truman's broad objectives, they are worried about some of the Greek palace guard who appear close to the White House throne.

Justice Frankfurter Heckled
Lawyers practicing before the Supreme Court long have wished they could turn the tables on talkative, inquisitive Justice Felix Frankfurter.

During almost every case argued before the Court, Justice Frankfurter subjects the attorneys to a barrage of questions. Sometimes the grilling is so continuous that a lawyer finds all his time taken up with the Frankfurter repartee, has little time left to present his main argument and I came out of Madison Square Garden, we turned south to get the wind on our backs. An old man in a torn sweater grabbed at my sleeve.

"Honest," he said, "I can't find nothing to eat today."

It wasn't hard to believe. He gave off the barometer. I handed him some loose change. "Go easy on the pretzels," I told him.

As he shuffled away, the light of a neon sign fell on the whiskers and dirt that hid his features.

Statistician Would Put Heavy Tax On Luxuries To Aid Greece

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Fla., March 16.—Much as we may dislike sticking our noses into other people's affairs, it becomes a necessity, under present conditions. We are sending relief in one form or another all over the world. We supplied 72 per cent of the UNRRA funds and goods. In many instances we found administrative personnel of other nations utilizing these relief supplies to their political advantage.

With the end of UNRRA this month a new plan is proposed whereby the U. S. supplies only 57 per cent (still well over half) of the funds. For this purpose, President Truman has asked for an additional $350,000,000 with which to stave off the specter of starvation in Austria, Greece, Hungary, Poland, Italy and China. However, our State Department says that in this undertaking, we, ourselves, will administer our own funds.

Can We Afford It?
The world calls upon our resources, to the estimated sum of about $4,000,000,000, at a time when we need to put our own financial affairs in order. We have loaned to France, Poland, England and other goods all over an Empire, and it has nearly busted her. England now owes many billions of dollars to Canada, the U. S. and other nations besides the billions which she owes her own people. Now, near economic collapse, she still has interests all over the world. Who will do the policing and protecting of her loans and investments? Will the United States step in everywhere Britain feels she must step out?

Italy and Greece might have turned to England for assistance. But, under the circumstances, they are asking of the U. S. Italy's government warns us of the communistic danger in the offing if the U. S. does not provide the Italians with more aid in food and money. Certainly, we are between two fires: If we don't loan, Europe will go communistic; if we loan too much, unemployment will develop in the U. S. and strengthen Communism here at home.

Self Reliance—An Ideal
It would be unhealthy for any nation to acquire the feeling that it can always turn to us for material aid. A nation strengthens itself as it works out its own difficulties. The ravages of war have made it necessary for the United States to send food to many nations. Germany, Austria, India and China are among the most hungry today, having more than 20 per cent cut in their normal diet. They are worse off than France, Italy or even Greece.

Among the defeated nations it is important to create domestic self-sufficiency lest they become a permanent drain on the resources of others. MacArthur is wisely asking Washington to allow the Japanese funds for enough shipbuilding to permit a revival of their fishing industry. He also believes that limitations on Japanese industry should be lifted, to help Japan work toward domestic self-sufficiency at least.

How To Raise Needed Funds
The real question is not whether we send these hundreds of millions abroad as ex-President Hoover recommends. We simply must do so or some day the entire world will gang up against us. We in the U. S. cannot long continue living the "life of Riley" while the rest of the world is on the verge of starvation. The only question facing us today is how this money should be raised.

The answer to me is very simple:—Increase the luxury taxes on liquor, tobacco, night clubs, expensive clothing, jewelry, etc. This will both give the necessary funds and put some sense into our people. Some will say such increased taxes would throw a few of our people temporarily out of work. Perhaps so; but I doubt it. Besides we are short of labor to make for us today the essentials which we are lacking—in needed food, clothing and shelter.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

It was the night of the big snow couple of weeks ago. As the sports writer and I came out of Madison Square Garden, we turned south to get the wind on our backs. An old man in a torn sweater grabbed at my sleeve.

"Honest," he said, "I can't find nothing to eat today."

It wasn't hard to believe. He gave off the barometer. I handed him some loose change. "Go easy on the pretzels," I told him.

As he shuffled away, the light of a neon sign fell on the whiskers and dirt that hid his features.

"I know that guy from somewhere," mused the sports writer. We passed Lefty's bar-and-grill. "How about a beer?" said my friend. We went in. Lefty's is one of those saloons with a picture of John L. Sullivan over the soaped mirror. The sports writer's foot went up on the brass rail and his fist dug into the peanut bowl.

"Pete Carpenter," he suddenly reminded himself. "That's who the old guy was. This used to be his hangout."

"What happened to him?" I asked. He told me. It's the story of a mean bartender and a little man who used to tell lies. Or, rather, one lie.

Pete Carpenter lived with his sister over on Tenth Avenue. Every evening, she'd straighten his tie and put a dollar behind the fresh handkerchief in his breast pocket. Every evening, Pete would stroll over to Lefty's, where the talk was mostly horse racing and fights. The dollar bought him ten beers, and the ten beers would last until the gang thinned out.

Pete was the bar's baseball expert—and that was his lie. For years he had been telling the boys he once played a season in major league ball. This gave him a certain standing among the two-bit bookies and the fighters who had taken one left to the head too many.

About every other night, Pete Carpenter would get a chance to tell his story. "Used to play for the Giants myself," he'd begin. "Utility outfielder and pinch hitter. In 1911, we were playing Philadelphia in the World Series. In the third game, with two out and the score tied in the ninth, the pitcher was next at bat. McGraw looks down the bench and gives me the nod. 'Pete,' he says, 'go out there and lean on one.' That's his exact words. 'Lean on one.'"

"I let the first two go by. Not my style. Bill Klem called them strikes. Connie Mack's pitcher figured he'd sneak the next one past me. I swung free and easy and hit it long and low, smack between left and center. It rolled right out to the flagpole. Home run inside the park! We win, four to three. Old Jaw McGraw put his arm around me and said, 'Pete, you can pinch hit for me anytime.'"

The regulars at Lefty's knew the story by heart, but they'd always pat Pete on the back and tell him he was quite a fellow. Except Lefty. When Pete got to the part about McGraw hugging him, the proprietor would sometimes throw the bar rag on the floor, he was that mad. Sometimes he would slam the glasses around when Pete was talking. Maybe he figured there wasn't enough profit in a dollar's worth of beer. Maybe he was just plain mean.

Around one o'clock, Pete would set his straw skimmer at a sporting angle and walk himself home, a smile on his face and the beer singing quietly inside him. Not much of a fellow, not much of a life. But it had a certain dignity, and it didn't hurt anybody.

This went on for years. Then one night, after Pete finished telling his fib, Lefty threw a book on the counter. "This is a baseball record book," he shouted, loud enough for everyone at the bar to hear. "List the box scores of all World Series games. If you can show me the name Pete Carpenter anywhere in it, I'll give you the joint!"

The bar got quiet as a ball park at midnight. Pete looked as if some body had kned him in the belly. He opened his mouth as if to say something—then found he had nothing to say. Mechanically, he put on the hat and walked to the door. One of Lefty's friends snickered. "Don't forget to touch all the bases," he whispered as the little man closed the door of Lefty's bar behind him.

"What happened to Carpenter after that?" I asked the sports writer. "Took the elevator down," said my friend, reaching for the peanut bowl again.

Lefty came over. "Another beer, gentlemen?" he beamed. "Let's get out of here," I said to the sports writer.

Cumberland Pros Trim Washington By 79-51 Score

Locals Get 32 Goals; Oberhaus Sets Pace

Cumberland's point-happy Amvets added another scalp to their growing list of victims when the Washington Redskins bit the dust to the tune of 79 to 51 last night at SS. Fetter and Paul earned most of the five hundred and seven cash prizes.

Five hundred and seven cash prizes were awarded to the winners of the National League football players wearing basketball uniforms to represent their 14th consecutive triumph and their 15th victory against eight losses.

Washington never had a chance in the rough game in which the home team garnered 32 field goals and added 15 points in 21 tries at the charity stripe. The Washington team had its picture taken before the game.

The Redskins were put through the wringer before coming here. They played in Hagerstown yesterday afternoon and lost by the margin of 38 points—75 to 37—or six touchdowns and two extra points.

During intermission the fans were consoled by the fact that the New York Rens will play the Amvets here next Sunday night.

The Amvets reeled off the first ten points before the Redskins broke the ice when the quarter ended the score was 27-8. At the halfway mark the locals held the long end of a 42-15 score and the close of the third quarter found the locals on top 59-25.

Oberhaus Gets 21 Points

Paul Oberhaus was the high point man in this travesty on basketball with 21 points to his credit. He connected for nine fielders and three free throws. Lou Bell and Bob Pence with six baskets each contributed 15 points apiece while Walter "Pooch" Orndorff fouled up 13 late.

Thirty personal fouls were plastered on the team—18 on the "Skins and 12 on the Amvets. Joe Youel, the Redskins' quarterback, was the only player ejected on personals. He attempted to stiff-arm several of the Amvets but the referee happened to be looking. He also tried several quarterback hitches but the plays failed to net any yardage in this particular sport.

"Gloomy Gus" Frizell, Amvets' regular guard, was reported to be ill and Joe Wagner started in this place.

On one occasion Jim Gaffney and Lou Bell came out of a clinch swinging but no blows were struck and no blood was shed. The lineups:

Hi-Rock Kennels, owned by F. Diehl and Dr. H. C. Diehl, to the major portion of the honor at the second annual Tri-State Association Derby Trial of the American Beagle Club yesterday on club grounds, McMullen Highway. The first five dogs and results in the thirteen inch class and four in the fifteen inch class.

Judging was capably handled by James Lewis of Uniontown, Pa., assisted by Robert Shockey in 13 inch class and by James Stevenson in the 15 inch class.

The number of entries was somewhat smaller than anticipated, totaling 13 entries in the small class while the large dog event attracted only six entries.

Card of Thanks

We take this means of expressing our sincere thanks to our friends, relatives and neighbors, who were so kind to us in our recent bereavement in the death of our beloved father Henry P. Wellings. We are grateful to those who sent floral tributes and donated cars for the funeral. We wish to express our deep gratitude to Rev. W. D. Reese for his consideration.

To Broadcast St.

Patrick Day Talk

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, March 16.—It being St. Patrick's day in the morning, Eamon de Valera, prime minister of Ireland, is to make his annual broadcast to this country. It will come via CBS at 6:15 p. m. Monday, lasting 15 minutes.

Katharine Hepburn, who played in the films and the stage when "The Philadelphia Story" was gaining attention, will step to the microphone of the Screen Guild on CBS at 10 p. m. to do the same role in a brief radio version. She will have the acting cooperation of Cary Grant and James Stewart.

Lionel Barrymore, Saturday night CBS broadcaster as mayor of the town, will make an appearance in the Cavalcade of America drama on NBC at 8. It is "The Man with Green Fingers," based on the life of Luther Burbank, noted horticulturist.

The other Monday night guest drama, Radio Theater on CBS at 9, will present "Leave Her to Heaven," a story of love misunderstanding. Cornel Wilde and Gene Tierney get the leads.

Nelson Eddy is to bring his baritone voice to the Don Voorhees concert of NBC at 9. It will be in the form of a St. Patrick's day salute.

NBC at 7:30 Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday evenings, has started the Manor House party, a Chicago producer variety piece. MBS has changed title to its Monday night drama at 10:30 from Dr. Graham and Family, to Stephen Graham, family Doctor.

Eamon DeValera To Broadcast St. Patrick Day Talk

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, March 16.—It being St. Patrick's day in the morning, Eamon de Valera, prime minister of Ireland, is to make his annual broadcast to this country. It will come via CBS at 6:15 p.m. Monday, lasting 15 minutes.

Katharine Hepburn, who played in the films and the stage when "The Philadelphia Story" was gaining attention, will step to the microphone of the Screen Guild on CBS at 10 p.m. to do the same role in a brief radio version. She will have the acting cooperation of Cary Grant and James Stewart.

Lionel Barrymore, Saturday night CBS broadcaster as mayor of the town, will make an appearance in the Cavalcade of America drama on NBC at 8. It is "The Man with Green Fingers," based on the life of Luther Burbank, noted horticulturist.

The other Monday night guest drama, Radio Theater on CBS at 9, will present "Leave Her to Heaven," a story of love misunderstood. Cornelia Wilde and Gene Tierney get the leads.

Nelson Eddy is to bring his baritone voice to the Don Voorhees concert of NBC at 9. It will be in the form of a St. Patrick's day salute.

NBC at 7:30 Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday evenings has started the Manor House party, a Chicago producer variety party. MBS has changed title to its Monday night drama at 10:30 from Dr. Graham and Family, to Stephen Graham, family Doctor.

Tavern Owner Held; Man Is Taken To Hospital

Dennis Broadwater Injured In Fight

One man was in Allegany Hospital suffering from severe head wounds and another was released on $1,000 bond, following a fight about 12:30 a. m. yesterday in the Colonial Inn located on Meadow Mountain, Garrett County, State Police said.

A man identified as Dennis Broadwater, Meadow Mountain, entered the tavern and dance hall shortly after midnight and allegedly assaulted Mrs. Clay Blades, wife of the proprietor, Trooper Milton G. Hart said.

Blades, who was released on bond of $1,000 yesterday afternoon, attacked Broadwater, the trooper said, and inflicted severe body and head punishment in a rugged "rough and tumble" fight.

Several persons were present in the tavern and on the dance floor when the fight started, the trooper said, and saw Broadwater beaten.

Blades, the trooper declared, used no weapon other than his hands during the fight.

Broadwater, who was brought to Allegany Hospital, had both eyes badly beaten, and fear that he may lose the sight of one was expressed by police, who said the Meadow Mountain man also suffered a broken nose.

Blades was taken before Magistrate J. U. Stanton and ordered held on $1,000 bond for further investigation pending the outcome of Broadwater's injuries, Trooper Hart said.

Broadwater had been in the tavern earlier in the evening, Trooper Hart explained, but as far as he could learn no trouble was encountered at that time.

When he entered shortly after midnight it appeared that he had been drinking, police said, adding that he was with several neighbors who apparently brought him to the inn.

Trooper Hart said that the insults which Broadwater is alleged to have made to Mrs. Blades were of a verbal nature and declared that the fight started after Blades asked the man to leave the place.

Blades will be taken to Oakland today, Trooper Hart said, where he will be questioned by Garrett County State's Attorney Walter Dawson.

Driver Arrested Following Accident

One man was injured and a reckless driving charge placed against one of the drivers involved in a two-car collision yesterday morning at 12:30 o'clock on Route 40 at Narrows Park, State Police said.

A car driven by Forrest Wesley Gordon, Danville, which was headed east on Route 40, struck the embankment under the Western Maryland Railway bridge, which crosses Route 40 in the Narrows, Trooper William Baker, who investigated, said.

The impact caused the car to turn completely around and strike a car operated by Theodore Lynn Pickrell, Mt. Savage, which was headed west, Trooper Baker said.

Wilbert Bonner, Barreilleville, was treated in Allegany Hospital for lacerations of the right hand and leg, but was not admitted.

Gordon, who said police that he was blinded by the lights of an approaching vehicle, will be charged with reckless driving and given a hearing in Trial Magistrate Court, Trooper Baker said.

Central Girls Give Musical Program

Approximately 400 persons, including residents of Mt. Savage, Midland and Frostburg, attended a St. Patrick's Day musical entertainment, "Bits O' Blarney," presented last night at Carroll Hall by the 80 students of Catholic Girls' Central High School.

Those with leading parts included Doris O'Rourke, Rosemary Dougherty, Julia Tynan, Mary Louise Pirie, Mary Ann Lovestien, Rose Harbaugh, Rosemary Savage and Betty Smith. One entire chorus of girls appeared in masculine attire.

B. And O. Tax Rate Upheld By Court

The Maryland Court of Appeals upheld a method of taxing the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company which compelled the company to pay an additional $55,190 levied in 1942 by the State Comptroller.

The railroad company paid the levy under protest after the comptroller computed the tax on the gross receipts tax on the railroad's track mileage in the state rather than upon its main line mileage only.

The high court in its decision overruled a Baltimore City Circuit Court ruling. The appellate court held that the State Tax Commission had the right to change its method of computing the B. & O. tax because there was no specific mention of method in the statute.

Two other cases affecting the Western Maryland and Pennsylvania Railroad dealing with tax computation are pending.

B. & O. Will Serve Meals In Coaches

Baltimore and Ohio Railroad's Seta-Seat service, discontinued during the war, was recently reintroduced on the National Limited and the Diplomat, Roy B. Seta said.

The service provides for the serving of inexpensive meals at the rate of each coach passenger who pays the service to walking to the dining car. Waiters take the orders and serve them on compact aluminum trays right in the coach seats.

Garrett Roads Slippery From Two-Inch Snowfall

Two inches of snow made road conditions hazardous in Garrett County last night and State Police were advising motorists not to drive without chains west of Frostburg.

State Trooper Milton G. Hart, stationed at Accident said roads are "very slick."

There were some snow flurries in Cumberland last night. The temperature was 28 at midnight. At Thomas, W. Va., and Deal, Pa., snow flurries also were reported. The temperature at Thomas was 20 and at Deal, 18.

Legal Gambling's Good, Bad Sides Aired On Radio

The good and evil of legalized gambling in the City of Cumberland to increase the municipal revenue were aired yesterday on "Wake Up Cumberland," a Sunday afternoon program presented over WTBO, local radio station.

Participating in the discussion were Rev. R. L. Henthorne, president of the Cumberland Ministerial Association, and Robert L. Sisson, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., who opposes legalized gambling, and Jack Moore, president of Local 224, Dairy Workers, and J. Henry Holzshu, local realtor, who spoke in favor of such a means of increasing the revenue.

The legalizing of slot machines for gambling purposes in Allegany County would present an additional obstacle to the religious, character and welfare agencies in their fight against juvenile delinquency, Sisson declared, but Moore defended the plan by saying laws aimed at the pleasure of great masses of our population can never be adequately enforced.

Rev. Henthorne charged that "gambling in any form is a recognized evil and I have a deep conviction that it ought not be legalized." The government recognizes it as an evil as does the Protestant Church, he added, and it is evil because it is detrimental to the characters of people.

The City of Cumberland, Allegany County and the State of Maryland are all, at the present time, seeking and investigating ways and means to bring greater amounts of money into their tills, Holzshu stated, adding that one way of producing the additional revenue is by the taxation of gambling. "I guess it is just human nature to want to take a chance, and most of us do it often," Holzshu declared.

As long as people are going to gamble, said Holzshu, why not bring it out in the open? It can be controlled by heavy taxation and "in favor of legalizing various forms of gambling," Holzshu said.

Sisson said mothers and fathers seeking to explain the evils of gambling to their children will hear "but it is legal now."

People who are otherwise law-abiding citizens will not be deterred from gambling because legislation forbids it, Moore said. They feel that if they wish to gamble, it is very definitely their own business, he stated, adding that he feels that the advantages to be derived from taxation are many.

Berryman has been assigned to duty with the Marine Air Corps as a control tower operator. Making a career of the Marines, Cpl. Berryman married his pretty young bride October 12, 1946 at Newbern, N. C. Home on his first furlough since then, he and Mrs. Berryman are shown here at the home of Cpl. Berryman's father, M. R. Berryman, 504 Montreal Avenue, on the eve of their departure.

DEATHS

MRS. ELIZABETH BRYSON
Mrs. Elizabeth Verónica Bryson, 60, wife of James T. Bryson, 538 North Centre Street, died yesterday at 9:15 a. m. at her home after an illness of several months.

A native of Westernport, Mrs. Bryson was a daughter of John and Bessie McFarland McGreevy. She had resided in Cumberland for the past 18 years and was a member of St. Patrick's Catholic Church and of the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

Besides her husband, she is survived by one son, James S. Bryson, Baltimore; a daughter, Mrs. Lawrence Moore, at home; and one sister, Mrs. Mary Kirk, Wilmerding, Pa.

A requiem mass will be celebrated Wednesday at 10 a. m. at St. Patrick's Catholic Church, with interment in St. Patrick's Cemetery.

Local Marine Taking His Wife To Live In China

Cpl. Berryman Was Fort Hill Athlete

Cpl. Charles Berryman, United States Marine, who served in both the Atlantic and Pacific during World War II, and saw action at the invasion of Normandy, Iwo Jima and the Philippines, who has been visiting his father, M. R. Berryman, 504 Montreal Avenue, leaves today for service in China, accompanied by his pretty blonde wife, Dorothy Berryman, formerly of Newbern, N. C.

Well known here as a football star for four years at Fort Hill High School prior to the war, Cpl. Berryman, better known to his friends as "Pete," has been in service nearly five years, and said last night, "I'm a 20-year man," meaning he will serve until eligible for retirement pension.

Cpl. Berryman has been stationed at Marine Air Station, N. C., for the past year, and while there met his bride. They were married in Newbern October 12, 1946, and this is their first visit here. Mrs. Berryman said last night she is looking forward to seeing China, but added, "I'll be happy wherever Charles is, so long as we can be together."

During the war, Cpl. Berryman served aboard the battleship Texas, and his ship shelled "Omaha" beach at Normandy, prior to and during the American invasion of Europe. Later he went to the South Pacific, where his ship participated in several engagements and also participated in the invasion at Iwo Jima and Leyte.

He is now assigned to the Marine Air Corps, and is a control tower operator. While talking about his war experiences he recalled that he was at Iwo Jima when he received word that his mother had died. His commanding officer ordered to send him home, he said, but it would have taken 30 days, so he remained on duty.

Prior to entering the service, Berryman worked at the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad shops from 1940 when he left school until he enlisted in October 1942.

When he leaves here today, he will go by train to Elkhart, Calif., from where he will sail for China.

FARRELL INFANT
The infant son of John V. and Mary Hagib Farrell, 306 Cumberland Street, who was born Saturday morning in Allegany Hospital, died in the hospital yesterday morning.

Besides the parents, also surviving are one brother and two sisters, John J. Phyllis Ann and Mary Patricia Farrell, all at home.

Interment will be held today in St. Patrick's Cemetery, Mt. Savage.

FRYER INFANT RITES
A short service will be held tomorrow at 10 a. m. at the home of Joseph Michael Fryer, 3-month-old son of Charles H. and Elizabeth A. Malampy Fryer, 26 Riverview Avenue, Ridgeley, W. Va., who died Saturday afternoon in Allegany Hospital.

Rev. Robert Kilgannon, pastor of St. Anthony's Catholic Church, Ridgeley, will officiate. Interment will be in St. Peter and Paul Cemetery.

MOOSE INITIATION
Approximately 150 persons from Cumberland attended ceremonies at the Moose home in Romney, W. Va., yesterday, when a class of 30 candidates from Cumberland, Frostburg, Keyser, W. Va., Romney and Moorefield, W. Va., was initiated.

Members of Potomac Valley Lodge No. 66, Local Order of Moose, were guests of the Romney lodge. Approximately 300 persons attended the ceremonies, which were conducted by Edwin Parry, Noble North Moose of Potomac Valley Lodge, initiatory services were in charge of Charles E. Pettie, captain of the Legion degree staff.

Dr. A. C. Moninger, Baltimore, region counselor, and past president of the Maryland Border States Moose Association spoke.

The next meeting of Potomac Valley Lodge will be held in Frostburg on Sunday, April 20.

APPOINTMENTS HINGE ON VOTE IN COUNTY
Two members of a three-man board that would be appointed by the Governor in a measure proposed to set up a wholesale liquor dispensary to be operated by Allegany County, would be chosen from the political party receiving the largest number of votes cast in Allegany County in the last preceding gubernatorial election.

The third member of the committee would be selected from the political party receiving the next number of votes in Allegany County.

In a story Saturday morning disclosing the proposed change in the method of appointment The News inadvertently omitted that the vote cast in Allegany County would determine the political affiliation of the members of the board. This omission led some persons to believe that the choice of the board members would depend on the statewide vote.

It is also planned to offer a variety of trades school courses which the regular adult education certificate will be granted. All persons interested in enrolling in the courses may make application at the Board of Education, 108 Washington Street or at the Veterans Administration office, 111 Union Street.

SUPVISED STUDY PLAN TO BE GIVEN VETS
A new and improved method of assisting students taking correspondence courses under the GI Bill of Rights will be initiated in Allegany County which will divide classes into groups for assistance. J. D. Lonnholm, director of the program, announced.

At present, veterans taking correspondence courses are given assistance between 7:30 and 9:30 p. m. twice a week at Fort Hill High School, but under the new plan students will be grouped into subject classes and given the assistance of a qualified instructor in the subject.

It is also planned to offer a variety of trades school courses which the regular adult education certificate will be granted. All persons interested in enrolling in the courses may make application at the Board of Education, 108 Washington Street or at the Veterans Administration office, 111 Union Street.

COUNTY EXEMPTION SOUGHT IN NO STRIKE ACT
An amendment which would exempt Allegany, Baltimore and Garrett counties along with Baltimore City from a State Senate bill that would outlaw strikes of public employees was introduced by Sen. Della (D-Baltimore Sixth).

Moratorium is scheduled in the Senate on the bill and suggestions for amendments have been made a special order of business for today.

Sen. Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany), minority leader, served notice after Saturday night's session that he would fight for a Legislative Council bill to distribute state-collected recordation fees to Baltimore City and the counties.

KEEGAN FAVORS TRAFFIC BUREAU
Commissioner William V. Keegan said preliminary steps have been taken to establish a traffic bureau in the Cumberland Police Department after the Junior Chamber of Commerce went on record favoring such an organization.

Keegan said a number of traffic improvements have been made recently and that other changes are being studied. He said the situation at a given point is studied about a month before action is taken.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES OPEN IN CRESAPTOWN
Rev. Virgil R. Gillum, pastor of Wesley Methodist Church, Parkersburg, W. Va., is the guest evangelist at a service which began last night at Cresaptown Methodist Church and will continue nightly at 7:30 through Palm Sunday on March 30, when Rev. Dr. William F. Wright, superintendent of the Hagerstown Methodist District, will preach the final sermon.

Rev. Mr. Gillum formerly held pastorates at Frostburg and Grantsville.

Over $1,000,000 Paid To Claimants

The Cumberland office of the Maryland Unemployment Compensation Board paid out a total of $1,037,554 to claimants in 1946, Russell S. Davis, board chairman, announced.

There were 8,581 individuals presenting claims while benefits averaged $118.19 per week. The length of time for each claimant averaged 10½ weeks.

In addition, the Cumberland office paid out over $1,486,481 to veterans eligible for Servicemen's Readjustment Allowance. Claims were filed by 4,701 veterans, Davis said.

Kimble Proposes Voting Machine Bill For County

A bill that would make it mandatory for Allegany County to purchase voting machines was introduced in the State Senate Saturday by Sen. Robert B. Kimble, (R-Allegany) minority leader, but a means of raising funds for the purchase was left up to the County Commissioners.

The measure, SB 427, would direct the commissioners to borrow $140,000 to purchase machines for the Board of Election Supervisors. The commissioners could issue bonds or certificates of indebtedness, Kimble explained, or decide on other means of raising the money.

Members of the county board have never taken action on a proposal made in recent years by a representative of a national concern that manufactures the voting machines. The plan was suggested that would allow the county to pay for the devices on the installment plan over a 10 or 20 year period.

Sen. Kimble also introduced SB 433, which would provide for a salary increase for Cumberland firemen similar to one introduced last week to provide for a raise for members of the city police force.

The act would provide a base pay of $170 a month for firemen during the year they are on probation and after confirmation of appointment salary would increase to $200 a month.

Kimble first proposed the measures as a provision that the county liquor license fees be increased in order to provide the funds needed to meet the increases.

The plan was blocked, however, when the 1933 county liquor law was ruled invalid Wednesday and Kimble said the necessary funds could be raised "from additional revenue from other sources to sponsor the pay boosts."

House Bill 764 introduced by the Allegany County delegation would create a special taxing area to be known as Potomac Park Addition, providing for a citizens' committee and to permit the levying of a tax for street lights and water for fire.

Kimble also introduced Senate Bill 369, which would not change the present salary of the State's Attorney but would make the local law conform with the state-wide measure in the reorganization program.

ALLEGANY FIRST CHAPTER TO TOP RED CROSS GOAL
Allegany County Chapter was the first American Red Cross chapter in the state to exceed its quota in the 1947 fund campaign, according to word received over the weekend by the State's Attorney.

Identified as Elmer Francis O'Neal, 32, and Richard Eugene Melott, 23, State Trooper George E. Goddington, who made the arrests, said the men engaged in a family argument and O'Neal "got after Melott with an axe." Melott then went into his home and shot a 22 caliber rifle, the trooper said. Neither weapon was used, the trooper added.

State Police were also notified that Lewisburg, W. Va. authorities were holding a man and woman wanted here for the theft of an automobile belonging to Curtis Dean

Tavern Owner Held; Man Taken To Hospital

Dennis Broadwater Injured In Fight

One man was in Allegany Hospital suffering from severe head wounds and another was released on $1,000 bond, following a fight about 12:30 a. m. yesterday in the Colonial Inn located on Meadow Mountain, in Garrett County, State Police said.

A man identified as Dennis Broadwater, Meadow Mountain, entered the tavern and dance hall shortly after midnight and allegedly assaulted Mrs. Clay Blades, wife of the proprietor, Trooper Milton G. Hart said.

Blades, who was released on bond of $1,000 yesterday afternoon, attacked Broadwater, the trooper said, and inflicted severe body and head punishment in a rugged "rough and tumble" fight.

Several persons were present in the tavern and on the dance floor when the fight started, the trooper said, and saw Broadwater beaten. Blades, the trooper declared, used no weapon other than his hands during the fight.

Broadwater, who was brought to Allegany Hospital, had both eyes badly beaten, and fear that he may lose the sight of one eye expressed by police who said the Meadow Mountain man also suffered a broken nose.

Blades was taken before Magistrate J. U. Stanton and ordered held on $1,000 bond for further investigation pending the outcome of Broadwater's injuries, Trooper Hart said.

Broadwater had been in the tavern earlier in the evening, Trooper Hart explained, but as far as he could learn no trouble was encountered at that time.

When he entered shortly after midnight it appeared that he had been drinking, police said, adding that he was with several neighbors who apparently brought him to the inn.

Trooper Hart said that the insults which Broadwater is alleged to have made to Mrs. Blades were of a verbal nature and declared that the fight started after Blades asked the man to leave the place.

Blades will be taken to Oakland today, Trooper Hart said, where he will be questioned by Garrett County State's Attorney Walter Dawson.

Driver Arrested Following Accident

One man was injured and a reckless driving charge placed against one of the drivers involved in a two-car collision yesterday morning at 12:30 o'clock on Route 40 at Narrows Park, State Police said.

The driver, by Farrest Wesley Gordon, Danville, which was headed east on Route 40, struck the embankment under the Western Maryland Railway bridge, which crosses Route 40 in the Narrows, Trooper William Baker, who investigated, said.

The impact caused the car to turn completely around and was operated by Theodore Lynn Pickrell, Mt. Savage, which was headed west, Trooper Baker said.

Wilbert Bonner, Barre, was treated in Allegany Hospital for lacerations of the right hand and leg, but was not arrested.

Gordon, who told police that he was blinded by the lights of an approaching vehicle, will be charged with reckless driving and given a hearing in Trial Magistrate Court, Trooper Baker said.

Central Girls Give Musical Program

Approximately 400 persons, including residents of Mt. Savage, Midland and Frostburg, attended a "Bis O' Blarney" presentation last night at Carroll Hall by the 80 students of Catholic Girls' Central High School.

Those with leading parts included Doris O'Rourke, Rosemary Dougherty, Julia Trozzo, Mary Louise Latta, Mary Ann Lovestien, Rose Hargrave, Rosemary Savoy and Betty Smith. One entire chorus of girls appeared in masculine attire.

B. And O. Tax Rate Upheld By Court

The Maryland Court of Appeals upheld a method of taxing the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company which compelled the company to pay an additional $55,190 levied in 1942 by the State Comptroller.

The railroad company paid the levy under protest after the comptroller computed the tax on the gross receipts tax on the railroad's track mileage in the state rather than upon its main line mileage only.

The high court in its decision overruled a Baltimore City Circuit Court ruling. The appellate court held that the State Tax Commission had the right to use its method of computing the B. & O. tax because there was no specific mention of method in the statute.

Two other cases affecting the Western Maryland and Pennsylvania Railroad dealing with tax computation are pending.

B. & O. Will Serve Meals In Coaches

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad's "B. & O. Dining Service" is to be discontinued during the war, according to the National Liner and the Diplomat, Roy B. Wren, president said.

The service provides for the serving of expensive meals at the rate of $1.00 per passenger who pay for the service to walking to the coaches. Waiters take the orders and serve them on compact aluminum trays right in the coach seats.

Garrett Roads Slippery From Two-Inch Snowfall

Two inches of snow made road conditions hazardous in Garrett County last night and State Police were advising motorists not to drive without chains west of Frostburg.

State Trooper Milton G. Hart, stationed at Accident said roads are "very slick."

There were some snow flurries in Cumberland last night. The temperature was 28 at midnight. At Thomas, W. Va., and Deal, Pa., snow flurries also were reported. The temperature at Thomas was 20 and at Deal, 18.

Legal Gambling's Good, Bad Sides Aired On Radio

The good and evil of legalized gambling in the City of Cumberland to increase the municipal revenue were discussed yesterday on "Wake Up Cumberland," a Sunday afternoon program presented over WTBO, local radio station.

Participating in the discussion were Rev. R. L. Henthorne, president of the Cumberland Ministerial Association, and Robert L. Sisson, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., who opposes legalized gambling, and Jack Moore, president of Local 924, Dairy Workers, and J. Henry Holshu, local realtor, who spoke in favor of such a means of increasing the revenue.

The legalizing of slot machines for gambling purposes in Allegany County would present an additional obstacle to the religious, character and safety agencies in their fight against juvenile delinquency, Sisson declared, but Moore defended the plan by saying laws aimed at the pleasures of great masses of our population can never be adequately enforced.

Rev. Henthorne charged that "gambling in any form is a recognized evil and I have a deep conviction that it ought not be legalized." The government recognizes it as an evil as does the Protestant Church, he added, and it is evil because it is detrimental to the characters of people.

The City of Cumberland, Allegany County and the State of Maryland are all, at the present time, seeking and investigating ways and means to bring greater amounts of money into their tills, Holshu stated, adding that one way of producing the additional revenue is by the taxation of gambling. "I guess it is just human nature to want to take a chance, and most of us do it often," Holshu declared.

As long as people are going to gamble, said Holshu, why not bring it out in the open? It can be controlled by heavy taxation and "I'm in favor of legalizing various forms of gambling," Holshu said.

Sisson said mothers and fathers seeking to explain the evils of gambling to their children will hear "but it is legal now."

People who are otherwise law abiding citizens will not be deterred from gambling because legislation forbids it, Moore said. They feel that if the law is against them, they will definitely feel their own business, he stated, adding that he feels that the advantages to be derived from taxation are many.

Va., is the guest evangelist at evening services which began last night at Cresaptown Methodist Church and will continue nightly at 7:30 through Friday, March 30, when Rev. Dr. William P. Wright, superintendent of the Hagerstown Methodist District, will preach the final sermon.

Rev. Mr. Gillum formerly held pastorates at Frostburg and Grantsville.

Local Marine Taking His Wife To Live In China

Col. Berrymann Was Fort Hill Athlete

Cpl. Charles Berrymann, United States Marine, who served in both the Atlantic and Pacific during World War II, and saw action at the invasion of Normandy, Two Jima and the Philippines, who has been visiting his father, M. R. Berrymann, 504 Montreal Avenue, leaves today for service in China, accompanied by his pretty blonde wife, Dorothy Berrymann, formerly of Newbern, N. C.

Well known here as a football star for four years at Fort Hill High School prior to the war, Cpl. Berrymann, better known to his friends as "Pete," has been in service nearly five years, and said last night, "I'm a 20-year man," meaning he will serve until eligible for retirement pension.

Cpl. Berrymann has been stationed at Oak Grove Air Station, N. C., for the past year, and while there met his bride. They were married in Newbern October 12, 1946, and this is their first visit here. Mrs. Berrymann said last night she is looking forward to seeing China, but added, "I'll be happy wherever Charles is, so long as we can be together."

During the war, Cpl. Berrymann served aboard the battleship Texas, and his ship shelled "Omaha" beach at Normandy, prior to and during the American invasion of Europe. Later he went to the South Pacific, where his ship participated in several engagements and also participated in the invasion at Two Jima and Leyte.

He is now assigned to the Marine Air Corps, and is a control tower operator. While talking about his war experiences he recalled that he was at Two Jima when he received word that his mother had died. His commanding officer offered to send him home, he stated, but it would have taken 30 days, so he remained on duty.

Prior to entering the service, Berrymann worked at the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad shops from 1940 when he left school until he enlisted in October 1942.

When he leaves here today, he will go by train to Elora, Calif., from where he will sail for China.

Barrell Infant
The infant son of John V. and Mary Hagib Barrell, 306 Cumberland Street, who was born Saturday morning in Allegany Hospital, died in the hospital yesterday morning.

Besides the parents, also surviving are one brother and two sisters, John J., Phyllis Ann and Mary Patricia Barrell, all at home.

Interment will be held today in St. Patrick's Cemetery, Mt. Savage.

Fryer Infant Rites
A short service will be held tomorrow at 10 a. m. at the home of Joseph Michael Fryer, 3-month-old son of Charles H. and Elizabeth A. Malampy Fryer, 26 Riverview Avenue, Ridgely, W. Va., who died Saturday afternoon in Allegany Hospital.

Rev. Robert Kilgannon, pastor of St. Anthony's Catholic Church, Ridgely, will officiate. Interment will be in St. Peter and Paul Cemetery.

Besides his parents, the child is survived by two brothers, Patrick Lee and Charles H. Fryer, Jr., and three sisters, Mary Elizabeth, Camilla and Cecilia Ann Fryer, all at home.

MRS. MYRTLE ALDERTON
Mrs. Myrtle Alderton, 62, 544 Marion Street, died yesterday at 5:30 p. m. in Memorial Hospital where she was admitted March 10. Born near Oldtown, Mrs. Alderton was a daughter of Leonard S. and Fannie Meyers Crabtree. She was a member of Melvin Methodist Church and resided in Cumberland for the past 35 years. Her husband, Merton Alderton, died in 1938.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. John J. Street and Mrs. Amos A. Perdue, Jr., both at home, and Miss Angela Grace Alderton, and Millard Crabtree, both of Cumberland; and Russell and Raymond Crabtree, both of Oldtown; three sisters, Mrs. Daniel Bender, Mrs. Charles H. Perdue and Mrs. Melvin Steckman, all of Cumberland; and one grandson, Frederick Alderton Street.

MRS. KENNY SERVICE
MIDLAND, March 16—A solemn requiem high mass was celebrated Friday morning in St. Joseph's Catholic Church for Mrs. Emma Kenny, widow of John T. Kenny, who died Tuesday at her home here. Interment was in St. Michael's Cemetery.

The mass was celebrated by her son, Rev. Simon E. Kenny, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Church, Hagerstown, assisted by Rev. Francis Flanagan, Loretto, Pa., a nephew, as deacon, and Rev. William McVeigh, a cousin, sub-deacon. Rev. Francis X. Lannon, Silver Spring, was arch priest.

Palbearers, all nephews, were Paul and John Carroll, Luke Burns, Simon Reilly, and Edward Mooney.

County Exemption Sought In No Strike Act
An amendment which would exempt Allegany, Baltimore and Garrett counties along with Belton City from a State Senate bill that would outlaw strikes of public employees was introduced by Sen. Della (D-Baltimore Sixth).

More argument is scheduled in the Senate on the bill and suggestions for amendments have been made a special order of business for today.

Sen. Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany), minority leader, served notice after Saturday night's session that he would fight for a Legislative Council bill to distribute state-collected recordation fees to Baltimore City and the counties.

Supervised Study Plan To Be Given Vets
A new and improved method of assisting students taking correspondence courses under the GI Bill of Rights will be initiated in Allegany County by the local classes in groups for assistance. J. D. Lonnholm, director of the program, announced.

At present, veterans taking correspondence courses are given assistance between 7:30 and 9:30 p. m. twice a week at Fort Hill High School, but under the new plan students will be grouped into subject classes and given the assistance of a qualified instructor in the subject.

It is also planned to offer a variety of trades subjects for which the regular adult education certificate will be granted. All persons interested in enrolling in the courses may make application at the Board of Education, 108 Washington Street or at the Veterans Administration office, 111 Union Street.

Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland will hold its regular business meeting tomorrow at 8 p. m. at the LaVale Fire Hall. Colored movies will be shown after the business session.

Street Commissioner Myers G. Light was reported in "good" condition last night at Memorial Hospital, where he was admitted Wednesday after becoming ill while in his office at City Hall.

Circle No. 1, WSCS of Centre Street Methodist Church, will meet today at 7:45 p. m. in the church parlor, Mrs. Leslie Randall is leader.

Over $1,000,000 Paid To Claimants

The Cumberland office of the Maryland Unemployment Compensation Board paid out a total of $1,037,554 to claimants in 1946, Russell S. Davis, board chairman, announced.

There were 8,581 individuals presenting claims while benefits averaged $118.19 per week. The length of time for each claimant averaged 10 1/2 weeks.

In addition, the Cumberland office paid out over $1,488,481 to veterans eligible for Servicemen's Readjustment Allowance. Claims were filed by 4,701 veterans, Davis said.

Kimble Proposes Voting Machine Bill For County

A bill that would make it mandatory for Allegany County to purchase voting machines was introduced by Sen. Robert B. Kimble, (R-Allegany) minority leader, but a means of raising funds for the purchase was left up to the County Commissioners.

The measure, SB 427, would direct the commissioners to borrow $140,000 to purchase machines for the Board of Election Supervisors. The commissioners could issue bonds or certificates of indebtedness, Kimble explained, or decide on other means of raising the money.

Members of the county board have never taken action on a proposal made in recent years by a representative of a national concern that manufactures the voting machines. A plan was suggested that would allow the county to pay for the devices of the installment plan over a 10 to 20 year period.

Sen. Kimble also introduced SB 433, which would provide for a salary increase for Cumberland firemen similar to one introduced last week to provide for a raise for members of the city police force.

The act would provide a base pay of $170 a month for firemen during the year they are on probation and after confirmation of appointment salary would increase to $200 a month.

Kimble first proposed the measure with a provision that the county liquor license fees be increased in order to provide the funds needed to meet the increases.

The plan was blocked, however, when the 1933 county liquor law was ruled invalid Wednesday and Kimble said the necessary funds could be raised "from additional revenue from other sources to sponsor the pay boosts."

House Bill 764 introduced by the Allegany County delegation would create a special taxing area to be known as Potomac Park Addition, providing for a citizens' committee and to permit the levying of a tax for street lights and water for fire protection.

Kimble also introduced Senate Bill 369, which would not change the present salary of the State's Attorney but would make the local law conform with the state-wide measure in the reorganization program.

Allegany First Chapter To Top Red Cross Goal
Allegany County Chapter was the first American Red Cross chapter in the state to exceed its quota in the 1947 fund campaign, according to word received over the weekend by General Chairman Thomas B. Finan and Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, executive secretary.

Cash and pledges turned in to county headquarters in the Post Office building total $33,800 in cash. Cash payments made by Cumberland residents amount to $24,600, excluding pledges. The campaign goal was $29,560.

Reports from county communities are coming in more slowly, and Mrs. Witherup urged county workers to exceed their quotas as the money raised is not kept in Cumberland but is returned to the respective branches. Of the total amount donated, 50.7 per cent is kept in the county, the balance, however, goes to national headquarters.

To date, labor has contributed a total of $2,563 in cash and pledges, as compared to a total of $199 last year.

News Briefs
Robert E. Robson, United Airlines representative, said he will come to Cumberland in the near future to assist the city in filing a brief with the Civil Aeronautics Board opposing recommendations of CAB examiners that no airline service be granted here. United seeks a route from Pittsburgh to Baltimore-Washington with stops at Cumberland and Hagerstown.

Eleven more persons have registered entries for the hobby and unique show to be held March 27 through 30 at St. Peter and Paul Hall, sponsored by the Western Maryland Coin Club. Included in the show will be a complete miniature train exhibit of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

James G. Newman, 129 Springfield Street, has secured a permit from the city engineer's office to use the front room of a two-story brick building at 156 North Mechanic Street as a personnel service office. The building is owned by Mrs. Emma Cope, who resides there.

Richard R. Sitzer of the Celanese plant will give a talk on "The Chemistry of Photography" at a meeting of the Western Maryland Section, American Chemical Society, Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the City Hall auditorium.

The Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland will hold its regular business meeting tomorrow at 8 p. m. at the LaVale Fire Hall. Colored movies will be shown after the business session.

Street Commissioner Myers G. Light was reported in "good" condition last night at Memorial Hospital, where he was admitted Wednesday after becoming ill while in his office at City Hall.

Circle No. 1, WSCS of Centre Street Methodist Church, will meet today at 7:45 p. m. in the church parlor, Mrs. Leslie Randall is leader.

Rubber Workers Defeat Absentee Assessment Plan

Sunnor PE Drivers In Bus Strike

Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America, CIO, yesterday defeated a motion to fine 11 members who failed to attend one meeting within a two-months period and also voted to support the Potomac Edison drivers and maintenance men now on strike.

The membership meeting, held in union hall, was attended by more than 150 members who defeated the motion to fine absentees by a large majority, but accepted other new and revised by-laws of the local chapter.

The proposed measure which would impose a $1 fine on any member of the union for failing to attend at least one meeting in a two-months period without a legitimate excuse was defeated largely because of the inconvenience it would cause members who are forced to travel great distances and also because members felt that it was not in accord with the union constitution, W. E. Plumber, secretary, said.

Pass Strike Resolution
The organization also passed a resolution to forward to the Mayor and City Council a letter, in time for today's Council meeting, informing them that Local 26 is supporting PE bus drivers and maintenance men now on strike, after negotiations for a wage increase failed.

The letter, Plumber said, will ask the Mayor and Council to arrange for arbitration to settle the strike and if need be to enact legislation that will permit the city government to take over the Potomac Edison transportation system until the strike is settled.

Plumber said a committee has also been appointed and instructed to send a copy of the resolution to the State Legislature, demanding that the city transportation system be taken over if the strike is not settled "shortly."

Committee Named
Members appointed to serve on the committee are A. E. Johnson, Local 26, president; J. F. Chisholm, secretary-treasurer; Roy E. Davy, divisional chairman; Bernard J. Beck, executive board member, and Plumber, recording secretary.

Plumber said no other action was taken to attempt to force membership attendance when the proposed measure was defeated. The local also voted to give $100 to the American Red Cross fund.

Two Men Held On Assault Charges
Two men who allegedly engaged in a fracas and carried a rifle and axe with them Saturday at Home-wood Addition, Mt. Savage Road, were being held in Allegany County Jail last night pending questioning by the State's Attorney.

Identified as Elmer Francis O'Neal, 32, and Richard Eugene Melott, 32, State Trooper George E. Goddington, who made the arrests, said the men engaged in a family argument and O'Neal "got after Melott with an axe." Melott then went into his home and got a 22 calibre rifle, the trooper said. Neither weapon was used, the trooper added.

State Police were also notified that
